Lena Kalt und Linda Hofmann

Ausstattungshelden is a young, interdisciplinary design studio.

Founded in 2016 by Lena Kalt and Linda Hofmann, we work vigorously as freelancers and with lots of imagination in the fields of scenography and costume design for film, theater and concerts, conceptual design for exhibitions and spaces, graphic design and photography as well as independent artworks, performances and exhibits.

This portfolio presents an overview of our recent work. For further information please visit

Underworld Blank Manuskript

Stage and costume design: Lena Kalt and
Linda Hofmann

December, 9th 2016
ARGE Salzburg

The program's idea is a musical journey through the underworld based on Dante's Divina Commedia.

"With the energetic support of top-class local artists – both on and behind the stage – Blank Manuskript succeeds in bringing artful rock music to the stage on its highest level."

Gnothi Seauton

Testshoot

Set and costume design: Lena Kalt and Linda Hofmann

Script / directed by Lukas Ladner

Camera: Dino Bossnini

with Peter Holzer

September 2017
Innsbruck

Gnothi Seauton (working title) deals with the customs, costumes and figures around "Fasnacht" all over the world - especially Austria. 4 young filmmakers work together on this project and develop their own world for a feature film.

The Interview

Theo van Gogh

Stage and costume design: Lena Kalt

Directed by Blanka Radoczy

Dramaturgy: Remsi Al Khalisi

with Pina Kühr und Volker Ringe

Premiere: November, 25th 2016

Studio, E.T.A.-Hoffmann-Theater Bamberg

The political journalist Pierre has to interview Katja, the film star Katja with the "most beautiful tits of the world" – just the day on which the government wants to resign. He commits the mistake of underestimating the young woman. They are facing a merciless struggle for power and dig into each others secrets.

"Katja and Pierre seem to be displayed in a shop window reminiscent of the "Mannequin Challenge." Just as people sometimes stop what they're doing, Katja and Pierre are stuck in their rehearsed roles, that society has given them."

Invasion

Jonas Hassen Khemiri

Stage and costume design: Linda Hofmann

Directed by Jasmin Sarah Zamani

Dramaturgy: Christopher Heyder

with Nicolas Garin, Marie Nest, Alexander Tröger, Florian Walter

March, 10th 2017

Studio, E.T.A.-Hoffmann-Theater, Bamberg

In his play "Invasion", the Swedish author Jonas Hassen Khemiri has managed to find a way to treat the theme of identification and the topic of handling the unknown in a very playful and multi-layered way.

The Waiting Soldier Blank Manuskript

Stage design: Lena Kalt
Costume design: Linda Hofmann

May, 29th 2015
ARGE Salzburg

Blank Manuskript's concept-album is about a self-proclaimed soldier, on whom the existential questions of human existence are treated.

"The background of the stage is filled with hundreds of white wind wheels (designed by Lena Kalt) - beautifully arranged, noiseless and motionless: that's how the stage welcomes the visitors to the album release concert "The Waiting Soldier" of Salzburg's Art Rock band Blank Manuskript.

Background noises like wind, then silhouettes emerge on stage in military steps and another acoustic level is added to the wind noise. The wind wheels in the background now turn. Slowly the dull pounding of the boots fades in favor of the instruments. That's what is called a spectacular beginning.

(...) The costumes (Linda Hofmann) seem like soldiers' uniforms. But on the second glance, shielding badges are recognized as kitchen utensils, the soldier's helmet as a baking pan for a Guglhupf, the uniform jackets are missing half. This visualization of the musical level is absurd and very strong at the same time. As a result, Blank Manuskript becomes a visual storyteller, skillfully serving the various sensory levels.

(...) "The Waiting Soldier" is a total work of art!"

Don Giovanni
Wolfgang Amadeus Mozart

Stage and costume design: Linda Hofmann and Miriam Stängl
Directed by Eike Gramms
Conducted by Gernot Sahler

Premiere: June, 14th 2014
University Mozarteum Salzburg

Don Giovanni – a known seducer of women – kills the father of beautiful Donna Anna during one of his nocturnal adventures. She and her fiancée Don Ottavio swear revenge on the unknown criminal.

Meanwhile, Don Giovanni tries to seduce the young bride Zerlina, who is warned by his old love Donna Elvira.

With the help of his faithful servant Leporello, Don Giovanni is able to escape from all difficult situations.

In the end, however, he is overtaken by the dead father of Donna Anna and sent to hell.

Treibgut

Set design: Lena Kalt and Linda Hofmann
Costume design: Julia Tophütt
Script / directed by Lukas Ladner
Camera: Carlos Isabel Garcia

with Georg Fischer, Thomas Gassner, Ronja Forcher, etc.

Short film, 2016
Innsbruck

Nothing is easy in Michael's head. And nothing is more difficult than to make a decision, because he doesn't know what he wants. Yet his environment expects clear answers of him. What are his goals? What's his perspective? What does he want?

He just keeps on being indecisive. Between his family's plans for his future and the disorientation of his friends, between a traditional village life and idealistic future perspectives, between brass band music and wild musical experiments with his band. Torn by incompatible expectations, he threatens to disappear in his search for the right way to go.

Doctor Faustus Lights The Lights Gertrude Stein

Stage and costume design: Lena Kalt
Directed by Remsi al Khalisi and the ensemble
Music: Iris Ter Shiphorst

with Stefan Hartmann, Pina Kühr, Katharina
Brenner, Marie Nest und Alexander Tröger

Premiere: June, 17th 2016
Studio, E.T.A.-Hoffmann-Theater Bamberg

Doctor Faustus invented electrical light. Since then it's getting bright in the dark, too bright. While inventing, he had the solution whispered to him by the devil and since then Doctor Faustus – in debt for his soul – is restlessly resting in his light.

“Aside from the actors, the stage gains a special role that has to be pointed out: Lena Kalt created a stage that combines functionality and art. It ideally supports the reduced spectacle: a revolving, open cube functions as Faustus' fiercely lit study room as well as a limiting space, when Maguerite-Ida and Helena-Annabel nibbles from the tree of knowledge.

Occasionally the cube becomes a climbing frame for the conflicting figures, then again it serves as a projection screen for a video of the woman emancipating herself in her thirst for knowledge - Fränkischer Tag -

“Dynamic, breathtaking: there is wild action going on – not only within the monologues, but also in interaction with the stage: modification, climbing around and playing with meaningful props.”

Treffbar
E.T.A.-Hoffmann-Theater

Design: Lena Kalt and Linda Hofmann
Realisation in cooperation with the technical employees of the E.T.A.-Hoffmann-Theater

Redesign of the theater bar
Bamberg, 2015

At the beginning of the theater season 2015 the theater bar was redesigned.
Lena Kalt and Linda Hofmann therefore changed colors, materials and interior of the bar.
Furthermore they designed and produced the lamps "Paraplumiere".

Best of Blank Manuskript

Costumes: Lena Kalt und Linda Hofmann

July, 9th 2016
Steintheater Hellbrunn, Salzburg

The Best Of Concert of the Art Rock band Blank Manuskript took place in an old natural theater, which is barely used today. Announced only through word of mouth, countless fans came to enjoy a unique concert in a special setting.

"Musical stories are brought to life: Fables and fairy tales from seemingly alien worlds, in which, on closer inspection, parallels to today's lifeworld become visible. In short - contemporary programmatic rock music for the initiated!"

Guinea Pig
Jenny Hooker

Set design: Lena Kalt
Directed by: Adrian Goiginger
Camera: Paul Sprinz

Music video, 2013
Salzburg

Naked skin, hard sound and a guinea pig. How these things come together is shown in the music video "Guinea Pig".

Für die Fülle Wunderkammer

Exhibition design: Lena Kalt
Curated by Luise Reitstätter

December, 5th 2013 - January, 26th 2014
Salzburger Kunstverein

Under the title "Wunderkammer", the full scope of the artistic work of the members of the Kunstverein was shown at the 2013 Annual Exhibition - a multifaceted exhibition experience.

The exhibition referred to the cabinet of wonders in the late Renaissance, where objects of different origin and destination were presented in the same space. It was kind of a productive coexistence of works of art, natural products, technical rarities, etc.

The works of the members of an art association can also be characterized by their different origin and destination. This plurality of an art society is understood as a strength and represented in a collective display system. The annual exhibition 2013 by that is a reflexion of what the "Salzburger Kunstverein" is today.
